Introduction to American Samoa Slot Machine Casino Gambling in 2018

American Samoa slot machine casino gambling does not exist. However, American Samoa enjoys bingo, which is not legally considered to be gambling.

This U.S. territory is primarily the large island of Tutuila, with its capital of Pago Pago, along with a group of much smaller islands. It is located in the South Pacific Ocean about halfway between Hawaii and New Zealand.

However, casino gambling is allowed at the nearby nation of Western Samoa, which is not a U.S. territory. Its two main islands of Savai'i and Upolu with four smaller islands are a former colony of the British Empire. Samoa, as it is commonly called, is officially known as the Independent State of Samoa.

American Samoa has a population of roughly 57,000 individuals with an industry centered around the U.S. Naval Base located there. Airline access to American Samoa is limited to small airplane flights to nearby Samoa as well as weekly flights to Hawaii.

The independent nation of Western Samoa consists of roughly 200,000 individuals with a busy tourism industry. Tourists travel here via flight options from the U.S., Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, and more.

Further, Western Samoa approved gambling as well as created a gaming control commission with the Casino and Gambling Control Act of 2010. The gaming commission is called the Gambling Control Authority.

The principle notion for casino operation in Samoa is based on the operator running a “junket” based business. Junkets are when an operator brings guests in from another location, houses them, looks after their daily needs while they gamble at his establishment.

Provisions of the Act do not permit locals entry to the casino. Casino entry is predicated upon fulfilling two pre-requisites, namely, being the holder of a foreign passport and being a registered guest at a resort or hotel.
