

Introduction to New York Slot Machine Casino Gambling 2018

New York slot machine casino gambling currently consists of 23 casinos and pari-mutuel racinos, including:

- 9 Pari-mutuel wagering racinos, all with slot machines;
- 6 Class III American Indian tribal casinos (with Las Vegas-style gaming, including slots);
- 4 Class II American Indian tribal casinos (with bingo-style gaming);
- 3 Commercial casino resorts, with a fourth opening in mid-2018;
- 2 Canadian casino resorts, located in Ontario across the Canadian border from Buffalo; and,
- Cruise ships departing from the New York Manhattan Cruise Terminal.

Slot machines at Class III American Indian tribal casinos in the state of New York are actually video lottery terminals controlled by the New York State Lottery, which are required by state law to have a minimum payout return of 92%.

Betting results for slot machines at commercial casinos and pari-mutuel racinos are controlled on location per usual machine internal microchip or casino central server.

No minimum payout return appears to be available, but actual payout return statistics are publicly available for the 4-month fiscal quarters of each year.

Relevant Legal Statutes on Gambling in New York*

The legal age for gambling is 21 for casinos run by the Seneca Nation of Indians through the Seneca Gaming Corporation, but 18 for other casinos in the state of New York.

American Indian tribal casinos in the state of New York only had Class II bingo halls from 1988 with the launch of the federal Indian Gaming Regulatory Act through 1993.

In 1993, the first Class III Las Vegas-style gaming casino opened after a state-tribal compact was negotiated with the federally-recognized St. Regis Mohawk Tribe.

Slot machines at tribal casinos in New York are video lottery terminals (VLTs) controlled by the New York State Lottery. These electronic games are typical video slot machines, with the exception that the results of a bet are determined by the central lottery system.

By state law, these VLT slot machines are required to have a minimum payout return of 92%. No actual payout return statistics are publicly available.

At non-tribal casinos, the result of a bet on a slot machine is not determined by the state lottery server, but instead by a microchip in the machine itself or by a central computer located in the casino.

A minimum payout return percentage for non-tribal casinos does not appear to be publicly available. However, actual payout returns are publicly reported by the state gaming commission (see below).

Quite interestingly, and this is not the only section of this document which is highly interesting, the state gaming regulations has a Section 5319.45: Software Requirements for Percentage Payout, which reads:

1. “If progressives, bonus systems, merchandise and so on are external to a game’s prize pool, the values shall not be included in the percentage-payout calculation. The independent testing laboratory approved by the commission shall provide the minimum and maximum theoretical payout percentage for the game within a certification report, unless otherwise noted. Additional external awards added to a game shall require a re- evaluation of the theoretical payout percentage, considering the value of the award and other relevant factors. The independent testing laboratory approved by the commission shall re-evaluate a game’s theoretical payout percentage when requested.”
2. “Gaming devices that may be affected by player skill shall meet the requirement of this section when using a method of play that will provide the greatest return to the player over a period of continuous play.”
3. “The minimum percentage requirement shall be met when playing at the lowest end of a non-linear pay table (i.e., if a game is continuously played at a minimum bet level for the cycle of the game and the theoretical return to the player is lower than the minimum percentage, then such pay table is not permissible).”
4. “Double-up or gamble options shall have a theoretical return to the player of 100 percent.”

Gaming Control Board in New York

In 2012, the New York State Division of Lottery was merged with the New York State Racing and Wagering Board to create the New York State Gaming Commission.

As a result, the Commission regulates all aspects of gaming activity in the state of New York, including:

All forms of pari-mutuel wagering, including harness and thoroughbred horse racing;

- Class III tribal gaming (maintains a 24-hour presence and verifies employees);
- State lottery, including video lottery terminals in and outside of casinos; and,
- Charitable gaming.

Their relatively long Mission Statement from their About webpage reads:

“The New York State Gaming Commission's mission is to ensure that all lawful gaming and horse racing activity conducted in this State is of the highest integrity, credibility and quality. Operating in the most efficient and transparent manner, the Commission conducts the New York Lottery and serves the best interests of the public by providing responsive and effective state gaming regulation. The Commission strives to ensure that all stakeholders in the gaming and horse racing industries, including the consumers who wager on activities regulated or operated by the Commission, are treated in an equitable and responsible manner and to promote the health and safety of horses and all participants in racing. By consolidating various regulatory functions into one oversight body with broad powers, the Commission seeks to ensure fair and strict regulation of all gaming activity while reducing costs and regulatory burdens to the gaming industry. The Commission aspires to provide the regulatory structure necessary for New York gaming activity to operate effectively in a global, evolving and increasingly competitive marketplace to generate revenue for aid to education and for the support of government, and to contribute to overall economic development and job creation in New York”

On their website, the Commission provides the general public with both monthly and weekly Commercial Gaming Reports for each commercial casino resort on their Gaming webpage.
